THE "POOR MAN'S FRIEND" IN INDIANA.

How the Barrel of HON. WM. H. ENGLISH is Filled.

A Few Facts from the Court House Records.

A STARTLING LIST
OF JUDGMENTS AND FORECLOSURES OF MORTGAGE!

How Personal Judgments are Secured, and the Victims are Fleeced of the Last Cent.

ONE OF WATTERSON'S "CORMORANT'S!!"

Special Correspondence of the Cincinnati Commercial.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., August 6th, 1880.

For the first time in the history of the Democratic party the tail of the kite is awarded as much prominence as the kite itself. The circumstances surrounding the nomination of English were peculiar. The nominee for Vice President was selected for three reasons: First, to appease Tilden, who demanded that Hendricks should be disgraced; Second, to mollify the ultra Southern element, which might take umbrage at the choice of a Union General, who had been instrumental in killing confederate soldiers; and, Third, because it had been widely circulated that English had the necessary "bar'l." It is more than probable, however, that the last reason was most potent. Be that as it may, no intelligent observer at the Convention can have failed to notice the dazed appearance of the Hendricks delegation when it finally dawned upon their benumbed senses that English was the nominee, and that the "favorite son" had been relegated to limbo. Presently, carefully prepared biographies of the new "favorite son" appeared in Eastern papers, and were circulated broadcast. The discovery was made in far-off lands that English was a man whose shining example every young man would do well to imitate; he had started out a poor boy, and by his own unaided exertions and by strictly legitimate methods, had accumulated a large fortune; he was a philanthropist, liberal to a fault in his charities, and ever ready with his wealth to aid the worthy in accumulating a competence. This seemed like news, indeed, in Indiana. The Indiana Republicans asserted that the selection of English would give them the State beyond peradventure; that he was personally unpopular wherever known; that, while he was rich, he had made the majority of his money, not in legitimate business, as was claimed, but by grinding the face of the poor; that the working classes were his bitter enemies; that the trades' unions of all grades were against him.

These opinions were so conflicting that, your correspondent, visited Indianapolis last Monday, for the joint purpose of satisfying his curiosity and informing the world of the true condition of affairs. Acting upon the hypothesis that a man's character can be easily learned from those with whom he has lived as neighbor for the past twenty years, I quietly began circulating among the old business men of the city. Here all agreed that he was a hard man in money matters and would exact the uttermost farthing. Many of them had formerly held personal relations with him while acting as President of the First National Bank and, while they had heard rumors of his harsh dealings with all whom he actually had in his power, but little more than general reports were discovered that day. In the evening I strolled around the Circle where is his residence, in the rear of which he is building an elegant opera-house. As I stood contemplatively observing the building now just under roof and the barred windows of the ex-banker's sleeping-room, a benevolent-appearing old gentleman stopped beside me and passed the compliments of the day.

"Mr. English is building a very fine opera-house," I remarked "and seems to be giving employment to a large number of laboring men."

"Yes," was the answer, "he is building the opera-house for reasons," and he winked knowingly, "and he has given employment to a large number of men in the past four years."

"In building up and improving the city?" I asked.

"Well, yes," was the answer, "in building up and putting subdivisions to his barrel. Nearly all his employees have been Deputy Sheriffs, and you can find additional particulars at the court-house."

The next morning found me at the Sheriff's office. Upon making myself known, I asked the Sheriff what he knew about Wm. H. English's popularity.

"Well," replied Sheriff Pressly, slowly, "I am a Republican, but I can say this much, he is one of the best friends I ever had in an official way. Many a dollar has he sent into this office."

The Sheriff did not say anything about the parties who eventually had to pay the dollars, but indicated that the records of the Courts were open for inspection there. The County Clerk's office was then invaded, and here, after diligent search, is the record I found. It is a list of the suits brought by Wm. H. English

SINCE THE PANIC,

And nearly all of them within the past three years, for judgment and foreclosure of mortgage. A "poor man" will hardly have time to examine it in detail :

While delving through these records I also discovered that, not satisfied with Sheriff's deeds, this "friend of the poor man" had also been investing in tax titles. The law in Indiana in regard to these titles is somewhat peculiar, and is regarded as so particularly "hoggish" that very few persons care to appear at the sales and speculate upon the misfortunes of impecunious fellow citizens. The law provides that the purchaser can exact 15 per cent. for the first six months, even if the redemption money is tendered the next day, 10 per cent. additional for the remainder of the year and 15 per cent. for the second year. Thereafter, according to a decision of the Supreme Court, 25 per cent. per annum can be charged for a period of twenty years, if the parties are not dead or bankrupt by that time, otherwise the tax title becomes absolute. It will thus be seen that the security can be classed as reasonably good:

In searching further I discovered the curious circumstance in that hardly ever did Mr. English, when buying under the hammer bid the full amount of his mortgage, thus leaving an individual judgment against nearly every one of his unfortunate creditors, and in this particular he may be regarded as an IMPROVEMENT ON SHYLOCK.

That worthy was satisfied with his pound of flesh, but his Hoosier prototype not only exacted that, but took precaution to secure another slice should the patient survive the operation of the Sheriff's knife, and give any indications of a second growth. The appended is taken at random from the list of Sheriff's sales and tells its own story:

After studying these records, compiled from the official books, I started out to interview some of the parties who had been ground between the upper and nether millstone. Very many of the defendants were said to be laboring people of the more ignorant class, who had been stripped of their little homes and knowing such would be unduly prejudiced. I sought two or three of the better class of debtors. The first one I met was Captain J. Bieler, an employe in the mail-bag service at the Post-office, and the present Republican

NOMINEE FOR COUNTY RECORDER.

He is a harness maker by trade, and stands very high with all classes of citizens, especially the Germans. In answer to inquiries with regard to his business relations with the Democratic nominee for Vice President, he gave the following statement:

"Some six years since I purchased for $2,200 two lots from James Frank, who had laid out an addition on land bought from William H. English. I knew Frank intimately and had so much confidence in him that I was careless about looking at the abstract of title, as he said all was right. I paid part down, and altogether paid $1,600, and then had a chance to sell the property to good advantage, but the would-be purchaser found that English held a first or 'blanket' mortgage over the whole addition. I then went to him and asked him to release it, offering to pay extra my pro rata of the mortgage, when he said he would not do it, as the mortgage was not due until 1880, and he would see about it then. This was in '76 or '77. In the meantime Frank had turned over to him my last two notes, and I told English that unless he released the mortgage I would not pay another cent, as he might come on me for any amount he saw fit in 1880. He said I could do as I liked, and subsequently foreclosed on the lots, bid them in himself and secured an additional personal judgment against me of $1,000. When I learned this I went to his office and asked what I owed a thousand dollars for; that I had paid him $1,600, that he had taken the lots back, and what more could he ask? He said what he asked was his money, and proposed to have it and that right away. I then told him what I thought of his robbery, and he ordered me out of his office. I had a small harness shop on Delaware street, and was compelled to go into bankruptcy."

MR. CHARLES W. MOODY,

Formerly a prominent druggist on Indiana avenue, was next visited, and was very free in giving his opinion of a man who, he firmly believed, was

A SECOND SHYLOCK.

Mr. Moody said: "In 1873 or '74 I was in business at the intersection of Indiana avenue and Tennessee street, and owned the building. Was doing well, but concluded to add to my building, and, as I had a little extra money, and there was a large amount of building going on, I thought I would buy some ground and start a brickyard, and that, thereby, I could make the brick for my house free of cost. I accordingly bought ten acres south of town from B. F. Heffgen for $650 per acre, and paid on the property $4,500, leaving two first mortgage notes of $1,000 each yet unpaid. These Heffgen sold to English, and on them I paid until I owed him $698 45, according to my figuring. I also paid the taxes, and this was the only incumbrance on the ground. In the meantime there was no sale for brick, business was dull, and though I worked night and day I was unable to meet the interest. English then foreclosed and though I met him at the Court-house, and on the steps asked him to be lenient, that I was doing all mortal man could do, and that I would pay him as soon as possible, he said, and these are his exact words:

"IF YOU DON'T HURRY UP AND PAY ME FASTER, I WILL DRIVE YOU TO HELL AND GONE!"

"But this is not all," continued Mr. Moody, "he bought in the property and closed my drug store on a personal judgment of $2,500. How he got that I could not discover, until I found that the notes were "gold bearin'," and that he had exacted the premium. When he closed my store, other creditors, of course, came and I was ruined. At that time I considered myself, and was worth clear of everything, $25,000, and Bill English ruined me."

Mr. Moody is now engaged in the manufacture of baking powder, and is doing a good business.

AN OLD GERMAN,

George Schriter, was next visited, as it was ascertained that he had felt the grip of the iron hand. He was formerly in the saloon business; and owned a three story brick building on Washington Street, opposite the Court-house, and is an honest, hard-working man. He is now quite feeble, and when talking of his business with English, grows very excited. According to his statement, he traded his property with English for four houses and six lots in English's Addition, and subsequently mortgaged the property, which was valued by English in the trade at $10,000, to him for $1,300 to pay a security debt. The inevitable foreclosure followed, and when friends helped redeem the property, on the last day there was an item of $100 for attorney's fees for his son, who attended the case. The "poor man's friend" also exacted the full penalty on the tax certificate which Schriter was unable to take up on account of sickness.

A BRIEF RESUME.

These three gentlemen were the only ones interviewed, and they were chosen because they could be easily found; were well known; and were each of a different political faith, Berler being a Republican, Moody a National, and Schriter a Democrat, so that politics could have nothing to do with the record now spread before the public. As your correspondent proceeded with the investigation, offers of statements came from every side, and especially from the poorer class. It would be an easy matter to fill the Cincinnati Commercial with affidavits of parties who had been glad to escape with their lives, and there is abundant room for another chapter.

Any doubting Thomas who may have had fears regarding the capacity of Mr. English's barrel could borrow no further trouble. Nearly eight hundred pieces of first class real estate gathered in will furnish enough to fulfill his part of the obligations of the campaign.

THE POOR MAN'S FRIEND ONCE AGAIN.

He "was a very large loser," and yet took the property in.

THE SHERIFF OF INDIANAPOLIS ISSUES THREE HUNDRED AND NINETY TWO DEEDS TO WILLIAM H. ENGLISH.

On these he realizes above the assessed value One Hundred and Ninety-five Thousand, Five Hundred and six dollars and Eighty-One Cents.

Nearly all this Property belonged to Poor Men, and was more than half paid for, besides being Improved.

AN UNVARNISHED STORY, EMBELLISHED only with PLAIN FIGURES.

(Special Correspondence of the Cincinnati Commercial.)

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 25.—When the Commercial's first Bombshell regarding the manner of the dealings of the Poor Man's Friend with his neighbors and fellow-citizens fell into the Democratic camp here, there was much diversity of opinion as to the proper line of defense. One member of the council was bold enough to assert that no defense could be made, while another thought that silence, like a pall, should be allowed to fall upon the record thus brought forth to the gaze of the world, and that Democratic orators and organs should be instructed to ignore the matter entirely, following in this particular the instructions given with regard to the Supreme Court and the Constitutional amendments. The muttering became too pronounced, however, in a few days, and it was resolved that something must be done and that quickly. What this something would be is thus set forth in last week's issue of The People, a weekly paper published here and known as his personal organ :

"In the matter of the foreclosure of mortgages an official statement, which will be published in a few days, will conclusively show that in the list published in the Commercial, Mr. English was a very large loser by reason of being forced to take the mortgaged property."

Having read this defence I proceeded to compare the amount of his Sheriff's bids with the assessed value of the property in 1879, when the assessment was the lowest for fifteen years.

This appraisement is rated at the actual cash value of the property, what it would bring under the hammer, while the actual commercial value is estimated one-third higher. It will be seen that the Poor Man's Friend holds Sheriff's Deeds to three hundred and ninety-two pieces of property in the city of Indianapolis, nearly all having been secured within the past two years. Many of these, as will be observed by the price, are bits of realty which belonged to laboring men, who had put up partial improvements on their property, and who are now tenants of his. On perhaps nine-tenths of this property four-fifths of the original purchase money had been paid, the foreclosure generally being taken on either the last or next to the last note. When these circumstances are considered and it is observed that I have neither included the list of his tax-title deeds nor those secured from the city on the purchase of precepts for street improvements, the aggregate of his extortion is absolutely appalling, reaching, as it does, between the total of his Sheriff's bids and the lowest assessed value of the property in fifteen years, the enormous sum wrung from the poor of one hundred and ninety-five thousand, five hundred and six dollars, and eighty-one cents.

Without further preface, the list, as certified to as correct by the appended certificate of the Assessor of Indianapolis, is presented :

$129,293 19		$324,800 00	$290,778 62	$5,271 81

I certify that the above is a correct copy of the assessed value of the property as assessed to W. H. English, as it appears in the records of my office, for the year 1879.

BEN RAU, Township Assessor.

Appraised value.....	$324,800 00	Balance in favor of English,....	$200,778 62
Amount paid Sheriff.....	129,293 19	Balance vs. English.....	5,271 81
	$195,506 81		$195,506 81
Grand Total in favor of the Poor Man's Friend as against the Poor Man.....			$195,506 81

It is thus shown that in this enormous purchase of foreclosed real estate, the Poor Man's Friend in only twelve instances bid over the assessed value, and in the two most important of these he bid higher in order to show the futility of any one attempting to get ground he wanted. The aggregate is thus three hundred and eighty cases in favor of the plaintiff and one short of a baker's dozen in favor of the poor defendants.

In conclusion, and in order to refute the latest report set afloat by English and his friends to the effect that the entire statements as hitherto published in the Commercial are but campaign lies and have no foundation in fact, I append the official

Certificate of the Clerk of Marion County :

STATE OF INDIANA, COUNTY OF MARION, Sct.

I, Daniel M. Ransdell, Clerk of the Superior Court of Marion County, do hereby certify the list as published in The Cincinnati Weekly Campaign Commercial of August 12, 1880, wherein William H. English is plaintiff and various defendants, is correct, except typographical errors in names of some defendants, as appears of record in my office.

In witness whereof I hereunto subscribe my name and affix the Court seal this 21st day of August, 1880.

[SEAL].

DANIEL M. RANSDOLL,

Clerk of the Superior Court of Marion County.

THE LANDLORD OF THE POOR.

HOW THE VICE PRESIDENTIAL BAR'L WAS FILLED.

A VULGAR FRACTION OF THE EJECTMENT SUITS,

BY WILLIAM H. ENGLISH, TO SECURE PAYMENT IN ADVANCE.

REAL ESTATE AGENCY IN A STREET RAILROAD RING.

HOW THE DOLLARS WERE GATHERED THAT FILLED THE BAR'L THAT NOMINATED THE TAIL PIECE OF THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

Correspondence Cincinnati Commercial.

INDIANAPOLIS, September 10, 1880.

The remark was once made by Horace P. Biddle, now Judge of the Supreme Court of Indiana, that "there are days and days." He was correct. There are also weeks and weeks, and before I reach the true inwardness of the financial transactions of the Democratic nominee for Vice President months and months are liable to elapse. November will be here all too soon, this being one of the peculiar cases where the longer you live the more you find out. It is known the tail of the kite was selected because it had a barrel attachment. Neither subversivency to the slave power, when Mr. English attempted to achieve greatness as a statesman, nor his subsequent political flounderings as a supporter of Grant and Morton, would have availed had the barrel been empty.

HOW HE FILLED IT.

Is then a matter in which the untrammelled voter has an interest.

The Commercial has published the official records, certified to by the Clerk and Assessor of Marion County, his home. The only announcement yet made is that like the other reaper he gathered them in "merely as a matter of convenience." He was a good landlord and never evicted any of his tenants, though occasionally a wicked agent caused him trouble by his harshness.

The alleged defense of the Poor Man's Friend has not been elaborated in a very artistic manner. In the first place, a blundering statement is given out that he did not deal in tax titles, and yet the records show that he

HAS TAX TITLES TO TWO HUNDRED AND THIRTEEN PIECES OF PROPERTY IN INDIANAPOLIS,

All accumulated "merely as matters of convenience."

Then the effort is made to prove that he actually lost money on his real estate loans. The records prove that the balance in his favor, between the sums he bid at sheriff's sale and the assessed value, is nearly $200,000, aside from the fact that many of the notes on which he foreclosed were purchased by him individually at from 30 to 50 cents on the $1.00. What then does he propose to show? That he is really a lenient landlord? And as this is his last resort a few remarks accompanied by additional statistics regarding his business are rendered necessary.

Three years ago he disposed of his interest in the First National Bank of this city for FOUR HUNDRED AND SIXTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS CASH.

Has he builded houses or employed men with that money?

He loaned his money on bond and mortgage to his poor neighbors in Indianapolis.

I have before me a dispatch from Washington, in answer to a letter, showing that Wm. H. English has

"ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS FUNDED LOAN."

People sometimes grow tired of figures, and I have furnished so many that to show the man's tenderness of treatment of the poor I only give the

In the office of Marcus L. Johnson was found what the Poor Man's Friend had done this year. Times are better now, and there are neither Cormorants nor Communists. But here is the showing:

11. Wm. H. English vs. C. H. Minshall.....	English Block.....	June 8, 1880.

Some of the evicted were interviewed. The majority are scattered, hunting probably another friend.

ANDREW O'CONNOR,

An Irishman, as his name would imply, was evicted August 5, 1879, from 117 West McCarty street, because he owed three dollars rent. He was out of employment, and is a sober, industrious man. He had three children, and is now working on the Belt road.

At the corner of Pogue's Run and Mississippi street, I found the case of Joseph W. Hiers. He is living there yet, his last sacrifice being a stove, which he sold in order to keep the roof over his head.

MICHAEL HOGARTY, "THE STONE-CUTTER,"

Who is well known to every citizen of this city, and who is a valued contributor to the Journal, was evicted from 311 East Court street.

Mrs. Ellen English, the widow of Wm. H. English, a namesake of the Poor Man's Friend, was ejected summarily from No. 50 Circle Hall, directly adjoining the barred window, on the 15th of October last, and this was done without the intervention of an agent.

John Arnold, on Greenwood street, received his walking papers May 5, 1880. He had four children, who were motherless, and the house from which he was chased did not have a pane of glass from foundation to roof.

These are particulars enough, though one fact should be remembered: These ejection suits were not brought for money due.

THEY WERE BROUGHT FOR RENT IN ADVANCE EVERY TIME.

These poor people were not rendered homeless because they owed Wm. H. English, but because there was a chance they might become indebted to him, and he did not propose that any man should owe him a dollar. This was done "merely as a matter of convenience,"—a precaution.

Another method adopted by the Poor Man's Friend to aid in building up the necessary barrel is as follows: He was President and principal owner of the Citizens' Street Railway of Indianapolis. It was a close corporation, and no man could get work who did not rent a house or at least a room from Wm. H. English. It mattered nothing as to whether the man was married or single, his name could never be placed upon the pay-roll of the street car company until it was registered upon the rent-roll of Wm. H. English. All his employees were thereby made his rental agents. Some of these unfortunates have been seen—the first one being A. H. Fitty, who was formerly in charge of the harness department at the car stables. He found it necessary to rent a house from English at the corner of Dillon and Deloss streets, in order to get a job. The rent was taken from his wages each week in advance. Mr. Fitty now has a harness shop at 246 West Washington street, and says that it was the invariable rule that all employees should rent from Mr. English, and that the rent, whether the property was occupied or not, was taken from their wages every Monday.

C. W. AND E. W. JOHNSON

Who are now working, one at Elevator A, and the other at the stock-yards, were also drivers for William H. He compelled them to rent rooms in his block, at the corner of Noble and Washington streets, taking from their wages $1.25 per week each, and they were never in the rooms.

JOHN MOORE, NOW A BRAKEMAN ON THE O. & M. ROAD.

Was a driver and was compelled to rent a house from English, first at No. 5 Dillon street, then at the corner of Noble and Washington, and then rooms at Circle Hall.

His brother, Lee Moore, is now a driver on the Illinois Street Line, and was forced by English, in order to get steady work, to rent a room in Circle Hall at $1.25 per week, and he never saw it. The amount was taken from his wages every Monday, and he was working seventeen hours out of every twenty-four for $1.65 per day.

These statements could be furnished from now until the crack of doom, but it isn't necessary. The American people understand why William H. English was nominated, and they need no more facts to realize before the campaign is much older, how he gathered in the dollars to fill his barrel.
